SEQUOIAS ARE BUT SMALL REMNANT

GREATLY EXAGGERATEDIndians Acted as Foresters in Planting Buckeyes and Oaks
Through State.

BERKELEY, June 28.—That the Sequoia gigantea, the marvelous "Big Trees" of California, are merely the remnants of a forest of vast extent, which once covered the entire Pacific coast and the Arctic regions of Asia, is the statement made by Professor Willis L. Jepson of the University of California in his book on "The Trees of California," just issued from the press.

Twenty years ago, when the climate and vegetation of the Pacific coast regions were tropical in character, when the mountains were covered at large by the plains of Siberia, dense forests of sequoias and redwoods flourished in profusion, covering the entire Pacific coast and the Arctic regions of Asia.

At that time, the Indians acted as foresters, planting buckeyes and oaks through the state.

Not only are these trees of small descendants of a more glorious tree, but according to Professor Jepson their age has been greatly exaggerated. It was not until the last few years that they were found to be more than 100 or 150 years old. In speaking of the probable age of the Sequoia he says:

"When one considers that the oldest living tree seedlings are 100 years old, and that the tree which is said to be a century old is a mere sapling, it is not surprising that the Indians acted as foresters, planting buckeyes and oaks through the state."

Professor Jepson takes occasion to correct some current misconceptions about the national forest conservation. "The national forest conservation," he says, "is a policy of the government, and is not a policy of the people. It is a policy of the government, and is not a policy of the people."

He also points out that the Indians acted as foresters, planting buckeyes and oaks through the state.

MORRISON BACK FROM THE EAST

Announces Appearance 1911 Cadillac About August 1st; Trade Notes.

(By J. A. HOULIHAN.)

Mr. A. E. Morrison, who went East about five weeks ago and closed with the Cadillac company to handle their cars on thirty cars returned from the East a few days ago. When he returned he had considerable interesting information to offer on the 1911 Cadillac model which has just completed its final test. The size of the Cadillac motor in the 1911 car has been increased one-half inch, the wheel base lengthened to 116 inches, a full floating rear axle will be used this year, and Bosch magneto has been adopted. The present system is but another of the changes made to increase the efficiency of the new model. The lines and general details have also been improved. Morrison reports a considerable increase in all of the upper Eastern factories, many of which contemplate for the coming season an output of double their past season's business.

BUICK GIVING SATISFACTION.

The Stewart Buick Company of Los Angeles, which has extensive interests throughout Southern California, has just bought its seventh Buick for the use of its representatives. The officials of the firm report that all the Buicks used are giving exceptionally fine and economical service.

MORGAN & WRIGHT FACTORY RUSHED.

Tony Nichols, president of the Western-Nichols Company, writes from Detroit, where he is visiting the Morgan & Wright factory, that the plant is pushed to its utmost capacity to meet orders. The factory department is doing surprisingly enormous business, and is especially busy with the Ford T-model.

DIAMONDS MAKING RECORDS IN GLIDDEN TOUR.

The severe conditions now being encountered on the Glidden tour are very definitely emphasizing the superiority of Diamond tires. With a large part of the strenuous course completed, the strain is beginning to tell mightily upon the vitality of the tires. According to a telegram received on the 22d by the local branch of the Diamond Rubber Company, there had been a total of but three tires for cars and one for a motorcycle, while the largest competitor had replaced eight casings and two tubes. Two cars had on the day before changed to Diamonds all around and other cars were following.

The children are better than any race of other contest held in this country tests the real value and durability of tire and machine. It is a source of great satisfaction to the Diamond Rubber Company that their tires have been leaders in this classed tour for seven consecutive years.

DORRIS FOR CARNIVAL QUEEN.

D. L. Whitman drove a Morris touring car to Oreville Wednesday for delivery to Mrs. Prior, who has been chosen queen of the coming Oreville water festival. The car will be used by Mrs. Prior during the festivities.

Mr. Prior, who helped select the car, is superintendent of the Oreville Light and Power Company and a mechanic and welder of unusual ability. He declares the Morris machine a marvel of motor efficiency and construction.

ROADS ALONG RUSSIAN RIVER GOOD.

W. F. Zerk has just made a tour up through the Russian river country in his automobile. He reports excellent roads in this section and the auto travel over them to be simply enormous.

MANY IMPORTANT STEVENS DELIVERIES.

Among the many deliveries made recently by the Pacific Motor Car Company which are of no little interest was the recent delivery to Mr. E. B. Mason of a four and a six cylinder Stevens six around town and in this vicinity. The four-cylinder will be shipped to Phoenix, Ariz., where Mr. Mason has large interests. Miss Irene Rubin has just received delivery of her Light Six Stevens, making her second purchase of this make. The Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company have purchased a six cylinder Stevens for its manager, Mr. Frank A. Lynch. Mr. J. C. Zerk, the well-known paper merchant, has received his model six-cylinder Stevens limousine. It is one of the most beautiful cars of its type which have ever come to the coast, and in details and appointments represents the highest degree of perfection in the art of carriage manufacture.

HALF WAY HOME.

Irving Betz, with four male companions, met Frank Betz and Miss Ripley at Lake Forest Park and after about half way between Ruby and Hammond when at a turn in the road young Betz lost control of the car.

The big machine plunged from the road, crashed through a fence, struck a telephone pole and turned turtle in a creek containing five feet of water. Ripley was pinned under the machine and drowned, but the others managed to extricate themselves.

The crew of an interurban car, which whirled the automobile is said to have been racing at the time heard the crash and with a number of passengers hurried to the rescue. They extricated Ripley's body and put it, with the injured persons, on the car and hurried to Hammond.

The Betz brothers are sons of Frank Betz, millionaire manufacturer of Hammond.

LOSES 22 POUNDS IN BRIBERY TRIAL

Bailiff in Charge of the Jury Is Reduced in Corpulency Since Beginning.

CHICAGO, June 22.—One of the outward indications of the strain under which everybody connected with the Lee O'Neil Browne bribery trial is laboring was shown in the appearance of Bailiff Wahlen, who has been in personal charge of the jury ever since it started last Friday. The bailiff, who is not a corpulent man at best, has lost twenty-two pounds during his eighty-three hours of service. With this loss of flesh to the bailiff, who is experienced in criminal court methods and is accustomed to long waits, it is believed that members of the jury must have fared much worse.

During the evening nearly a dozen pitchers of ice water was taken into the room, whether for drinking purposes or to relieve jurors overcome under the strain of the situation the bailiffs would not say.

During the day the food allowed to the jurors was reduced to a marked degree. This was not the result of an effort to starve them, however. The change was made because of the fact that many of the jurors, accustomed to active lives, had continued to eat their accustomed meals, with the result that they have all but collapsed under their imprisonment. Lack of exercise and fresh air is supposed to have been the chief trouble with the men who were sick.

A nominal admission fee will be charged spectators for admission to the grand stand, the proceeds to cover the cost of the grand stand and policing the field. KEY TO CORK LEG LEADS TO ARREST

Thaddeus E. York Captured at Seattle; Charged With Fraud.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 22.—A key to the knee joint of his cork leg led to the capture of Thaddeus E. York, charged with defrauding the American Bank and Trust Company of Klamath Falls, Ore., out of $8500 by means of forged drafts. The capture was made yesterday by Sheriff Dodge of King county and P. K. Ahern, manager of a private detective agency. B. F. Whipple, assistant Northwest manager of the detective agency, who aided in the arrest, says it was made possible through tracing the cork leg key.

Inquiring at every house in the United States and Mexico, his pursuers found where the key had been made. There, according to the detectives, York's alias was discovered.

Hoopskirt Inventor Dying of Old Age

NEW YORK, June 22.—Joseph Thomas, 83 years old, an inventor, who among other things is credited with originating the hoopskirt which was popular from 1850 to 1870, is dying at his home in Hoboken of disabilities incident to old age. He has been ill for several months. Thomas' inventions, which included many improvements on the sewing machine, devices for the manufacture of sulphur matches and a contrivance to make Derby hats, brought him a comfortable fortune. He made $50,000 from the hoopskirt idea.

OAKS STRIVING TO REGAIN GROUND LOST TO THE ANGELS

This Week's Series Will Be a Great Factor in the Pennant Race

JACK SHERIDAN RESIGNS, AND RETIRES FROM BASEBALL

OAKS AND SEALS WILL BE BIG CARDS THIS WEEK

Local Team Will Have to Play Great Ball to Regain Points Lost in Race for Pennant

WHILE the Oakland team has had man, hard rows to hoe since the opening of the season, the real test of their season is now on and if the Oaks win a majority of the coming series of nine games with the Seals, then they still have a fighting chance for the pennant of the Pacific Coast League. The Seals and Oaks have looked up to this season, and San Francisco won the first series and the Oaks the next two. Now comes the real test.

While the Oaks had a most disastrous series at Los Angeles I do not hold that against their chances with the Seals. Baseball is a most uncertain game and luck is a big factor in the winning and losing of games. It has been a factor in the past series of these two teams and it is bound to be a factor in the series now being played.

Comparing the two teams San Francisco has an advantage over the Oaks in adding, while the Oaks are the superior hitters still. But the Seals are about the best team here right now and if both these men keep up their play of last week, they will probably add their team in scoring runs, and it is runs that win ball games. In the pit bling line San Francisco can in it all over the locals, not in having better pitchers, but in having more to depend on. San Francisco can work a different slabster almost every day, while the Oaks will have to depend on three and possibly four. Miller, Sutor, Henley, Browning, Stewart and Eastley are men that rank high in the pitching line and each is in line to pitch one of the first six games and then the man that works first can begin all over again.

Oakland will have to depend on Moser, Nelson and Harkins. Harkins might come to the front and get a game for the Oaks. Christian is still up in the air and as to his being able to win as Mr. Parlin and Wolverton seem to think is a question, but the writer does not think him ready. Willis has done nothing startling in the league. With San Francisco he has lost a majority of his games and with Oakland he lost the only one he played. Tomison is an in-and-out-of-very-shay on control, therefore Favely, Moser and Nelson will have to do the front of the work.

Wolverton's return to the game will naturally greatly help the Oaks, for with his brains and ability to steady his play, the team is bound to be better. Wares at short plays an erratic sort of a game without Wolverton alongside of him, but will steady down when his captain returns. The fore we can look to better him in the next week. The sending of Hogan back to center will improve his playing, for he is out of place at third base, though he is at that first-class infielder but with Sander and Maggaret Hogan improves the outfield. As for Cupon, in the outfield he does not appear to be fast enough for the league. Will, touted as a hitter of the highest order, he has practically done nothing, which fact again has weakened the team. Still Wolverton believes Cupon will improve. Also he would not rest him, therefore we must wait while we see what we will see.

Oakland fans will see the home team in action three times this week on the local scene. The first game will take place Thursday afternoon, and there will also be morning games on the third and fourth of June. The rest of the game will be played at the usual hour over in San Francisco, with the exception of a game on the fourth, and it is the intentions of the league officials to begin this one at 4 o'clock, figuring that many of the fight fans will be reading the bulletin boards about Jeffries and Johnson, but that the fight will be over by 3:30 and thus the fans will then wait to see a ball game.

It is funny how some scribblers get after the official scores simply because they don't like them. Yesterday one of the evening papers over the bay did continually roasts the scorers, printed a box score of a ball game that was played at Reno between the newspapermen and the attaches of Jeffries and Johnson. It had been prepared by the fight editor of the paper, who by the way is the man who says baseball is a brutal sport and who also had an interview with Jack Gleason at the ferry building when that great roaster of the press, the Chicago TRIBUNE, would have printed the score mentioned, but it is so freakish that no one would understand it. While a full game of ball was played, one side is given seven put outs and the other four, while men are given hits and runs it would have been impossible for them to have made.

Oakland has the hardest task to perform during the coming week of its career and will have to play a ball game that will get anywhere near the Seals. Today the teams read like this in the percentage column:

San Francisco	49	37	570
Oakland	45	41	529

To overcome this lead and pass the Seals Oakland must win the first four games played, which would make the percentage column read this way:

Oakland	80	41	549
San Francisco	49	41	544

Outfielder Madden from the Utica Club of the New York State League will com-

Manager Harry Wolverton of the Oakland Team, Who Has Returned to the Game, and Who Will Be of Great Benefit to the Oaks in the Present Series.

'JACK' SHERIDAN LEAVES HIS TROUBLES BEHIND

World's Best and Greatest Umpire Quits the Ball Field After Thirty Years of Service.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—John F. Sheridan of the American League, for thirty years a professional umpire, packed his baggage today and left for his home in New York, surprised Umpire Egan with the announcement that he had shouted "Better out" for the last time.

"Egan," said Sheridan, "I've quit and you'll have to go it alone today. I'm going to Chicago on the next train."

He left a short time afterward for Chicago where he will report his resignation to Dan Johnson, president of the American League, to be made known. Egan said that he had no idea of Sheridan's intention until the latter told him he had quit. Egan telegraphed Sheridan's action to President Johnson.

Sheridan is the oldest umpire in point of service in the country. He began at Columbia, Ga., in the old Southern League, and has been in the American League since its organization. He told Egan he intended going to his home in San Jose, Cal., where he has been undertaking a watchful mission. It is reported among the players that Sheridan may be induced to take a position as a chief of umpires, the establishment of which has been discussed in the American League.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Stockholm possesses a corps of police women, who deal with those members of their own sex who are found drunk and disorderly. Their uniform consists of a blue tunic, helmet and top boots. They carry no weapon their tongues being reckoned more effective than a persuasive.

Probably the most stringent set of rules for the guidance of women students in force in any university in the United States were adopted by the women students of the University of Kansas at a mass meeting lately. Some of the strictest of the rules follow: No strolling or driving after dark no more than three evening engagements a week, callers shall leave at 10:30 p. m. doors of all women's dormitories and boarding houses shall be locked at 10:30 p. m. informal dances shall close at midnight formal dances and annual affairs shall close at 1 a. m.

Miss J. N. Sutton mother of the lieutenant of marines in Annapolis whose death caused such a sensation several years ago is a woman of great determination. For two years she has fought to get a decision that her son did not commit suicide. She failed. She tried to get Congress to take action. Still hopeful of winning her point she now means to seek election to Congress from Portland Ore. in the hope of gaining a seat and compelling Congress to reconsider the case of her son's death. Daisy M. Sutton daughter of the woman and sister of James H. Sutton who died in Annapolis says her mother will stand only Oregon but other states along the Pacific Coast. Her mother is more than ever convinced, said Miss Sutton, that her son met his death at the hands of his enemies. She will not rest until his name is cleared. The battle is so uneven the army of power against her is so formidable but mother always keeps up her hope she will live to clear him.

Woman Wants Parrot To Follow Her to Grave

Not willing to have her pet parrot cared for by other hands than her own Mrs. Ottilie Stock mother of one of the victims of the Maine disaster in Havana today directed her will that after her death the bird be chloroformed. She also wished that all family pictures and letters belonging to her be buried with her body.

To her daughter, Elizabeth, she left the proviso that if the husband be so large enough to pay for the funeral the daughter should have two kitchen chairs two pairs a broom and two wax tapers.

The remaining household effects are left to the German orphan asylum. She would the asylum to put the articles in a large casket to be sent to the proceeds of the fund set up for the purchase of a monument.

Alliance Is Formed on Hostesses From the States

Queen Mary Leads Boycott; She Hates Ostentation

NEW YORK—There is a new social era in England, the era of the exclusive aristocracy and the closed door against common Americans.

Queen Mary leads the boycott. She is a sovereign of much petulant blue and more fineness of character. Even the joyful cheerful pleasure-loving Edward VI. for all the unperceptive manner in which he ruled his empire according to his own whims was understood to be in a kind of palace but wholesome awe of her.

It needed only his heart and her exaltation to the throne bested a husband as serious as she is and with old-style Tory tender feelings for the British aristocracy abroad that their majesties would not so conspicuously refrain from embracing the "familiar" British American hospitality in the great London houses by their presence and that any British hostess of assured position who wants to stand well with her sovereigns must as scrupulously be not at home when ever the gilded American invader comes.

SOCIAL CHAOS

The result, for the time being is social chaos in the American colony of London. The present and previous prospective among these fair and white visitors to Britain's shores every possible doubt is of the royal exiles and from the two genuine certainties that as a marriage into the nobility is to be a permanent guarantee of a position, although it is so surely supposed that this new and difficult Queen Mary will now now than to show some partial favor to British nobles on her.

Queen Alexandra, on her accession to the throne was a noble quality to be Queen Mary and Queen Victoria in her reign. She was a noble quality to be Queen Mary and Queen Victoria in her reign. She was a noble quality to be Queen Mary and Queen Victoria in her reign.

SOCIETY BOUND UP

That is because never before has American society been so firmly bound up with British society. Back in America a lady who was a native of an American colony was not nearly as much as the British white knight.

I would not with the English society of the world as they try to and sisters—all Americans who now are expected to keep the coffers of an impoverished nobility and to be a part of the full house of an English nobleman. The result is a social chaos in the American colony of London.

DESPISES OSTENTATION

The very expenditure of the English aristocracy is so much in evidence as to be a part of the social chaos in the American colony of London.

Come on and shake hands with him. Deep to her appeals her hands refused and she went away disgraced.

Then the Taft smile got another work. Lollo President! bawled the youngster.

Fast Boxing Shows Condition Is Perfect

Big Grizzly Tears Into Berger, and Wind Improves With Each Successive Speedy Round With Husky Partner

By EDDIE SMITH.

TRIBUNE HEADQUARTERS, Reno, June 28.—It seemed that we got up with the little birdies yesterday morning, for hardly a person was to be found on the streets when we made our appearance. Reno is not the early to bed and early to rise sort of town; it is just the reverse. The reason for our early rising was the fact that a few had received the tip that the mysterious James J. Jeffries would do a little boxing. As our automobile pulled up in front of the Jeffries cottage the undefeated giant was standing on the porch stretching himself and as we drew near it was found that he had not yet laced his shoes. Looking the situation over Jeffries seemed to become inspired with the idea that it would be a good idea for him to work before the crowd arrived. At the time there were just six of us, each representing an eastern paper.

Jeff Prepares to Work

After greeting us with a "Hello" Jeffries turned on his heel and Trainer Cornell whispered the information that the big fellow would be stripped in a very few moments. Such enough, in a very short time Jeffries and his trainers put in an appearance togged out in their gymnasium clothes. By this time about twenty spectators had arrived, four of them of the gentler sex. When Jeffries stepped onto the stage he crossed over on the canvas that had been stretched the day before and examined it carefully. Walking over to the spot where the boxing gloves had been laid out the big fellow looked the crowd over. With every indication of great pleasure at the scarcity of spectators he turned to Armstrong and said: "Come on, Bob; get ready." Armstrong threw aside his bath robe with which he had covered his shoulders and advancing picked out his set of gloves and made ready for the row.

Proves Hard Man to Hit

Jeffries had not yet had breakfast and none of the sparring partners had been lucky enough to have their ham and eggs. The regulation three-minute rounds with the one-minute rest was ordered and time was called. Jeffries advanced to the center of the canvas and immediately after shaking hands he advanced toward the negro in the crouch that he made famous. Armstrong took no chances of being hit very hard and at all times was on the defensive.

While boxing in this position Jeffries proved the old time assertion of his former trainer, Billy Delaney, that he was a hard man to hit with the right hand. Armstrong missed the first and again with right crosses, but three times during the three rounds he boxed he hit the white man with right uppercuts, the pet punch of Johnson. At the end of the second round with Armstrong Jeffries was puffing like a steam engine and the two boys at the camp looked at one another in a doubtful manner. During the rest between the second and third round the big fellow showed the effects of the work out plainly, as he sat on one of the benches for a minute rest his huge frame rose and he felt to such an extent that one would believe that he was all tired out. It actually looked as if he was gasping for breath at one time.

Got Second Wind

From the third round on he got better, however, and although his hardest rounds were with Sam Berger he looked stronger and better of wind with each succeeding round. In all he boxed eleven rounds and wrestled two rounds with Barney Burns. The next man to be taken on was Joe Choyinski. During the rest between the third round with Armstrong and the first with Choyinski Berger stepped over to the big fellow and

CHICAGO SMOKES TO BACK 'LIL' ARTHUR' WITH COIN OF REALM

CHICAGO, June 28.—Two sets of betting odds on the Jeffries-Johnson battle were named yesterday by a prominent stock yards bookmaker. In the one Jeffries is quoted at 3 to 5, Johnson is the choice at 3 to 1 in the other. The heavyweights will probably enter the arena with equal backing by Chicago fight followers. From the South Side, especially in the colored colony, Johnson will draw tremendous support.

on top of the man when he side steps, and with a simple turning on the ball of his foot Jeffries is ready for the landing of a punch the moment that his opponent straightens up.

When time was called for the next round Berger stepped forward with a determination to find out whether or not he had been mistaken about Jeffries' breathing. Jeffries also started out in a business like manner, which fact caused Bob Armstrong to say, "He'll suffer for saying Jim was out of breath." And sure enough he did.

Both Sail in

Let it be said right here, however, that Sam Berger gave Jeffries a work out such as few fighters get in a training camp. Taking the pace the sparring partner and manager sailed right into the fracas without hesitating one second. The punches exchanged between them and Jeffries were not of the light and easy variety and neither spared the other's feelings. Berger hit Jeffries with a terrific punch under the heart and followed with a left hook to the jaw before Jeffries realized that his sparring partner would go at him as fast as he did. This was the dare, however, and Jeffries, shutting his teeth, started after him man with a will. The result was that Berger finished the round a very tired young man with a thin stream of red trickling down his face.

Clash With Berger

Choyinski was then taken on for another round of light sparring. Then came the second for the Berger boy. Sam was pretty tired and would have been willing to take things a little easier than he had the first round. He had thrown down the dare, however, and the fighter insisted on his going through with it. Berger was just as willing as the pugilist after he had started, and the two came together with a rush. Berger pulled back and snapping in his right to the head caught Jeff just as the latter was straightening up from missing a left jab. With less time than it takes to tell it Jeffries was after his prey like an infuriated bull. Berger closed for a clinch and the men came together with the sparring partner landing solidly under the heart again. As they broke apart Jeffries hooked his left in the mid section and down went Berger.

Sam Is Hurt

Sam got to his feet, but the grant that had accompanied the fall told Jeffries that the partner was hurt, and the rest of the round was eased off in a clinch. When the men had gone to the bench to sit down between rounds Berger was completely winded, and Jeffries appeared fresh. It being argued by his trainers that he had got his second wind. "Did I hurt you?" inquired Jeffries of Berger. "No," said Sam with a cynical grin. "I feel fine." Jeffries laughed and said that he thought Sam would block them, but the sparring partner would not stand for this sort of excuse.

Jim Corbett being next in line wondered if he would get the same dose as Berger had, so he walked over to Jeffries and with all seriousness said, "Boxing pretty hard today, Jim. Don't work too hard." Then Corbett was taken on, but Jeffries eased up. The boxing between Corbett and Jeffries was of the very lightest character, for the former champion is in no shape for hard work. Jeffries hardly let a punch go while he was working with Corbett.

Berger had another chance after the

ALL SEATS IN TRIBUNE SPECIAL HAVE BEEN SOLD

Two hours after "Demon" Cline had begun arrangements for THE TRIBUNE special to Reno for the Johnson-Jeffries fight every seat in the five cars had been sold. The fact that the train would leave Oakland late Sunday afternoon and return early Tuesday morning caused the rush for reservations.

Corbett boxing and the last round was the best of all. Sam tore into the battle with a will and the punches came thick and fast. Several times Berger landed with his right to the body and Jeffries tried with left hooks for the head. Berger is the only one of the sparring partners who is willing to fight the big fellow and the result was that Jeffries assumed his old crouch and boxed as he will fight. At the end of the boxing Jeffries said that he was glad Berger had laid the punches about the heart, for he has been trying to get one of the sparring partners to do this very thing for some time. His reason for his desire to try out his ability to take a punch in that part of his anatomy. The big fellow said he was satisfied that he could take the punches there as well as he could in the former days of his triumphs.

Wrestle With Burns

The two rounds of pushing about the ring with Burns ended the best work out that Jeffries has indulged in since going into training for this contest. One thing happened during the work that signified stronger than any other thing that Jeffries is in good physical condition. Not once during the rest between the first eight rounds of the boxing did the fighter ask for a gurgle of water, and this is always taken as a good indication of condition by expert trainers. The stomach becomes feverish from constant training if the man is not in first-class condition, and he will constantly ask

JEFFRIES SLIPS AND FALLS WHILE BOXING AND MAY USE RUBBER SHOES

(By EDDIE SMITH.)

TRIBUNE HEADQUARTERS, Reno, Nev., June 28.—While boxing this morning Jim Jeffries again slipped to the floor, falling on his right knee. He was up immediately, but the frequency with which these falls have occurred of late has led the trainers to fear an accident if the thing happens too often.

To guard against a repetition of this fact DeWitt Van Court suggested that he take a pair of the boxing shoes used by Jeffries and have a piece of rubber laid in the sole of the shoe. It is the idea of Van Court to have a piece of the original sole of the boxing shoe about two inches wide cut out just

Eddie Smith Favored As Second Referee

Oakland Man Mentioned as Auxiliary in the Ring July 4; Rickard, Declares He Will Take No Chances on Being Injured

(By William J. Slattery, in San Francisco Call of June 28.)

RENO, Nev., June 27.—"I shall see to it that the representatives of Jeffries and Johnson get together within the next three days and name the second or auxiliary referee for this fight. I am not taking any chances. In the event that I am injured I want a good competent man to be right on the job. They must go through with this, and I believe the deal will be closed without the slightest trouble."

Such was the startling statement made this evening by Tex Rickard, the promoter-referee. He did not tell everybody in Reno about it, but he quickly slipped the information to a few of his intimate friends. Men who know say that when he says a thing he means it.

"Several months ago I announced that there would be an auxiliary referee named," continued Rickard. "A lot of these wise fellows only laughed at me then, but I was determined to go through with this, though I kept very quiet about it. No, I will not try to influence either man. Let them get together and fight it out, but this second referee must be named."

It looks as though Eddie Smith of Oakland will be the man. He was defeated by fighters, trainers and sporting writers as they loiter about the hotels of the city or the quarters of the principals, patiently waiting the coming of next Monday and the decision that is to be handed down in the arena on that day. Whenever two old friends, comrades at many "ingsides, meet, often for the first time in years, that is almost invariably the greeting.

A touch of regret for exciting days and battles of the past which believe are gone forever creeps into every conversation. A feeling almost of sadness underlies the laughter and witty banter of the gathering hosts of fight followers. All seem certain that this is the end; that when the "tumult and the shouting" at the ringside has died and the time of parting has come, there will be nothing to say but "goodbye." It will not be "until we meet again."

Such is the prediction of the whole fighting world, apparently. It is voiced by fighters, trainers and sporting writers as they loiter about the hotels of the city or the quarters of the principals, patiently waiting the coming of next Monday and the decision that is to be handed down in the arena on that day. Whenever two old friends, comrades at many "ingsides, meet, often for the first time in years, that is almost invariably the greeting.

All seem certain that this is the end; that when the "tumult and the shouting" at the ringside has died and the time of parting has come, there will be nothing to say but "goodbye." It will not be "until we meet again."

An interview with each brought out the statement that in their opinion Johnson was in good shape and ready for a hard fight. Each one marveled at the wonderful cleverness of the colored man's defense, and each acknowledged that it would be no easy task to hit him a solid blow. In the boxing Johnson did little of the hard work, however, forcing the sparring partners to do all the leading and forcing as well as the work in the clinches.

To the writer Johnson did not appear to be working at his best, and it would seem to me that it would be a good thing for the colored man if he were to cut out his boxing for a few days. It may be that Johnson is just easing off in his boxing as he claims he is, but he certainly did not show the ginger that he did while working at the Seal Rock house.

Johnson was on the road again this morning, and after his lunch he displayed the best of spirits. Were it not for the fact that he was in such high spirits I would be led to believe that he might have gone a trifle stale, but his good spirits leads me to believe otherwise. Johnson did no other work than box with Kaufman, Monahan and Mills in the afternoon. He and his partners tossed the medicine ball for a short time, but not along enough to call it an exercise—it was a warm-up prior to boxing.

Johnson was in town for a conference with Tex Rickard this morning, the reason for which no one has yet been able to find out. Johnson says that he is boxing in the afternoon to accustom his eyes to the bright sun and in this his trainers agree he is doing the right thing. The pool rooms are beginning to handle some money here. Tom Corbett will locate at Jim May's place tomorrow. The odds are still 10 to 6, with Jeffries the favorite. Tom Jones manager for Ad Wolgast, bet $100 the other day against $500 that Jeffries would win in six rounds.

FIGHT TO SOUND DEATH KNELL OF THE PRIZE RING

RENO, June 28.—"Well this is the last Pugilism as it has flourished many decades will be a lost art in the United States, and that means in the world, when the Jeffries-Johnson fight is over."

Such is the prediction of the whole fighting world, apparently. Governor Dickerson Makes Trip to Reno Nevada's Executive Shares Honors, With 'Bat' Nelson Among the Prominent Arrivals

RENO, Nev., June 28.—The honors of popular attention among today's arrivals were shared by Governor Dickerson and Senator Nelson, former champion lightweight, "Bat" Nelson, arrived on a morning train from the coast and was the center of an interested throng when he went into the hotel to register.

One of the first men he met was Tex Rickard, whose career as a fight promoter began when he brought the Dane and Joe Garza together in Goldfield several years ago for the biggest purse ever offered in the prize ring up to the time Jeffries and Johnson were matched.

TEX NELSON SAT.
Tex Nelson cordially and easily after the lightweight admiringly at the latter went down the street.

"Don't think I ever saw Bat looking any better," said Tex. "Look at him step along. Seems lively, quick in his movements and all that. Bat is taking care of himself. He's out for a (come back at) Volga, said Tex. "Believe me, he won't be such a short ender, either."

Rickard was in an unusually cheerful mood today. He declared that the worst was over and that the fight was going to be staged on time and with everything in readiness.

GOOD SEAT SALES.
During the night he received many messages from the coast which assured him of good seat sales and similar assurance came from quite a number of unexpected quarters. The promoters and managers of the excitement surrounded the hotel all morning, clattering with his subordinates and the war correspondents.

He made one trip to the arena, and on his return expressed great satisfaction with the progress of the work there. The heat of the day was tempered by a cool breeze this morning, and all the fight followers in town determined to take advantage of it to go out to the training camps. In the hotels calls were left last night to get the enthusiasts out by 6.30 or 7 o'clock. Jeffries' early morning workout of yesterday had taken them all by surprise, and they did not purpose to be caught napping again.

JEFFRIES IN SECLUSION.
By 7 o'clock nearly 400 people had gathered at Moena. They waited patiently for the big man to put in his appearance and get to work.

Jeffries had another trick up his sleeve, however, and did not appear. He glanced out of the window, saw the crowd waiting for him, and cheerfully announced that he did not propose to do any work today. He refused to leave his personal quarters until after 3 o'clock. Then he charged through the crowd and went off up the road in a cloud of dust.

Before his return more than an hour later he had covered about seven miles of Nevada road, taken mostly in short sprints.

The spectators, regretting hours of lost sleep, were much chagrined, but still determined. They wandered about the grounds waiting in the hope that Jeffries would relent. Some of them gave up, but most of them stuck it out until Jeffries, swinging lightly along on his toes, trotted back to camp. He glanced at the throng and announced through his followers that he felt too good to work at all today, then went to his rooms.

EXPECTED TO BOX.
Despite Jeffries' declaration there was a belief among his trainers that he would get into action this afternoon for a boxing rally. It is believed that Jeffries will wait until the crowd is all gone, then suddenly get to work and have it over before another crowd could gather.

At Jack Johnson's camp it was reported in the morning. The champion drifted down stairs later than usual and after gazing out along the road for a few minutes told his trainers on hand to participate in the morning road run that he would not go. He gave no reason for his change of mind, but said that his boxing and gymnasium work in the afternoon would probably be as per schedule.

Visits University After Long Absence

BERKELEY, June 28.—After an absence of ten years from the University, R. K. Bishop, horticultural commissioner of Orange county, returned to Berkeley yesterday for a visit to the campus. Since his graduation from the college of agriculture in 1900, Bishop has been engaged in raising citrus fruits in Southern California. During the last few years he has been acting as horticultural director for the state of California, and is returning now from the state convention of horticultural commissioners just held in Sacramento, where he was elected president of the association for the ensuing year.

He buried treasure on the ranch of Dr. F. Wagner, just outside the Sonoma county line. When Wagner purchased the property he came into old Spanish documents telling of a vast treasure of gold which had been buried before the white man came into the hands of the white man. Wagner has searched industriously for the treasure, but so far has failed to find it, and he has now invoked the aid of Mrs. Deems in locating it.

Remarkably Good Bill at Bell Brings Out 'Standing Room Only' Sign Daily.

That a good bill at a vaudeville house means good business and an extraordinary good bill means just that much better business is exemplified at the popular Bell Theater this week. Manager John has brought together an array of talent this week that would do honor to any temple of vaudeville, no matter what the admission price is. Five or six crack-jack acts and two of the very finest motion pictures go to make up a program that the vaudeville man will have to take his hat off to, with the acknowledgment that it is about the best ever. Kara, the wonder, heads the feature in juggling act the like of which has never before been seen in these parts. When one refers to a juggling act in vaudeville many call to mind the inferior exhibitions that have characterized variety bills for years past; but when one refers to Kara they are referring to an artist, a past master at his work, and one whom no other living performer can even be compared with, let alone excel. He does everything that has been accomplished by those before him and for good measure does a great number of new stunts that seem unbelievable until you have witnessed them. The interior of a cafe is used for a setting and with the assistance of a helper, in the role of a waiter boy (who by the way is quite a comedian) Kara works every minute with lightning-like rapidity, holding his audiences spellbound with his marvelous exhibition. By all means attend the Bell this week, for Kara will send you home eminently satisfied, and besides he has several acts, each and every one of which will please you.

Plan New Buildings For University Farm

BERKELEY, June 28.—Contracts were let by the regents of the University yesterday for the erection of two new buildings at the University Farm at Davis. Out of five bids, that of Book Brothers of Sacramento was the lowest and the contract was let to them for $11,700. The new structures are a workshop for teaching farm carpentry and blacksmithing, and an office building for the department of animal industry. Work will begin upon these buildings within three weeks and three months' time is allowed for their completion.

for a gargle of water. Jeffries did not ask for any until after the eighth round had been boxed, however, and for that reason I feel safe in saying that he is as fit as it is possible for him to be. It may prove in the contest itself that Jeffries is not the man he was in the days of old and that he cannot take a punch as he did in former years, but his physical condition is perfect and he should enter the ring ready to defend his undefeated record.

NOT SCIENTIFIC CLINCHER.
One sure thing was brought to light

today in the boxing with Berger and that is that Jeffries is not a scientific clincher. In the clinches Jeffries simply wraps his arms around the opponent and throws his weight forward in such a manner that he rests on the other man. Johnson will be hard to catch in this manner, but at any time he does he will find Jeffries a hard man to throw off, and he will have to support him. I am a most sure Johnson will have the best of the clinch work, but Jeffries is so strong and heavy that much of it will have its effect on Johnson's legs. Late in the evening Jeffries tried himself out with a few sprints on the road.

JEFF, JOHNSON AND MANY SPORTING WRITERS ARE SONS OF MINISTERS

(By EDDIE SMITH.)

TRIBUNE HEADQUARTERS, Reno, Nev., June 28.—Although the big championship battle between James J. Jeffries and John Arthur Johnson has been successful in bringing down the wrath of a great majority of the preachers of California, it now comes to light that both of the men who are to meet in what has been rightfully termed the "Contest of the Century" are sons of ministers of the gospel, and no less than seven sons of preachers are here as special representatives of newspapers.

It has always been known that Jeffries' father was a minister of the gospel, for the elder Jeffries has preached on the streets of most every city of the United States. Jeffries' father denounces the paid preacher and says that he, like the professional pugilist, fights for money. Not so long ago at Los Angeles he said that the only difference between pugilists and paid preachers was that the fighters did bodily harm to one another for money and the latter fought to save souls, but that both fought for money.

Bob Armstrong is authority for the statement that Johnson's father was a minister. It came out at the Jeffries camp this morning, when in conversation with Robert Ritchie, who is the son of the former rector of St. Paul's church in Oakland and now representative of a New York paper, when the writer called his attention to the fact that many ministers' sons were on the ground. Armstrong overheard the conversation, and cutting in, said, "And don't forget it, Johnson's father was a minister; I knew him when I was a boy."

The writer then looked over the list of sporting writers, and much to his surprise, found that seven were the sons of ministers.

FLANNERY WRITES MAYOR HE WILL NOT TAKE OFFICE Former Police Commissioner Satisfied With Exoneration; McCarthy Expresses Faith in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Whatever embarrassment may have been associated with the filling of the vacancy in the membership and presidency of the board of police commissioners through the resignation of Harry P. Flannery, when indicated, under peculiar conditions, by a Marin county grand jury, Mayor P. H. McCarthy has been wholly relieved of it through a letter received by him from the former police commissioner, requesting the executive not to re-appoint him as he has no desire for the position and his re-appointment might excite "unjustified criticism."

FLANNERY CONTENT.
Flannery explains in his letter that he is content with the complete exoneration he received at the hands of a trial jury which, after hearing the evidence submitted, promptly acquitted him of the grave accusation with which he had been charged, and which was the culmination of a political conspiracy against a union labor administration, which for viciousness and contemptibility is unparalleled in the history of the state. "A false and maliciously created by certain newspapers, which," he adds, "ought to direct a crushing blow at me and my shoulders."

WILL NOT RE-ENTER.
He declares that "the struggle that has passed, although productive of a vindication for my family, my friends and myself, has left me disinclined to re-enter the arena where as a member of the police commission, I would probably have to fight for those who pray by day and by night to achieve the ruin of P. H. McCarthy, his good works and his administration."

Mayor McCarthy's reply is an expression of complete confidence in the exoneration and unqualified approval of Flannery's request he makes the following acknowledgment:

"I have reflected well upon the thought you present for consideration, and with unforgotten admiration for the unselfish and courageous sentiment you express and the stand you have taken at this time hereby acquiesce in your view and wish so to inform you."

The full text of the correspondence between Flannery and the Mayor has been given out for publication and follows:

LETTERS IN FULL.
The correspondence in full is as follows:

San Francisco, June 28, 1910.—Honorable P. H. McCarthy, Mayor of San Francisco.—Dear Sir: In an indication of whatever official action you may have in contemplation in reference to the existing vacancy upon the board of police commissioners of this city, I beg leave to state that I am a former incumbent of the union labor administration, or ask that my resignation be accepted for re-appointment, my request being based upon reasons that I shall set forth here briefly so soon as possible.

"Since your announcement in Washington, D. C., that you would refrain from discussing municipal affairs here until you returned, I have, in deference to the same, made no mention to you of this matter until now. Believing, as I do, however, that you are a man of high character and with a sense of intense loyalty to the cause which you represent, I make a former incumbent of the union labor administration, or ask that my resignation be accepted for re-appointment, my request being based upon reasons that I shall set forth here briefly so soon as possible."

POLITICAL CONSPIRACY.
"At the close of a political conspiracy against a union labor administration, which, for viciousness and contemptibility is unparalleled in the history of this state, I have put my detractors to rout after being forced to trial in a strange county and in the teeth of a false and maliciously created by certain newspapers which sought to direct a crushing blow at me and my shoulders. I have met the issue fairly and squarely, and, under the adverse circumstances, have been pronounced innocent by a jury of my peers."

"Upon the perjured word of a confessed criminal, which I have met the issue fairly and squarely, and, under the adverse circumstances, have been pronounced innocent by a jury of my peers. The price of this confessed criminal's perjured testimony has been meekly paid by those who hoped to encourage me to re-enter the arena where, as a member of the police commission, I would probably have to fight for those who pray by day and by night to achieve the ruin of P. H. McCarthy, his good works and his administration. I am a merchant with large responsibilities, and I cannot look after the affairs of the city of San Francisco to be the shining mark at which your detractors shall hurl their cowardly shafts."

LEFT DISINCLINED.
"I want to be free to turn my time and attention exclusively to my business, and to the encouragement of my enemies, in order that I may not be made to suffer from the plotting of men whose lives are dedicated to the ruin of the government of the plain people and annihilating its most earnest advocates. The blow dealt to the government of the plain people by you, and for your cause, but it has fallen short, and the solution of it all must be found in the survival of the fittest."

THANKS FOR HONOR.
"Once again I thank you for the honor you have done me in appointing me to your board of police commissioners. During my tenure in office, I have worked conscientiously, and, as I saw the light, to improve the police service of this city and to bring credit to you and to your administration. I have endeavored to advance the moral standard of our city and to better safeguard the public interest by doing so. I have not hesitated to support you because I had sickened of the leadership of the parties opposing you and because I believed, as I still believe, that the reins of government are not the property of any one man, but that they are the property of the common people, and that the only way to produce men who will honestly and conscientiously govern is true law, vouchsafing safety and happiness to all."

"Thus withdrawing from all consideration for the office I have mentioned, I do so with unchanged feeling and with my political beliefs more deeply entrenched than ever. I shall not shrink a single duty nor evade a single issue, and I shall stand now with the administration to aid and promote your administration within my ability whenever and wherever I can, and that so long as your administration continues to give the people a just rule and a maximum of benefit to the citizenry of my life, with a conscience as clear as crystal, and a heart free from regrets, I await the final judgment of the people that must come to those who tried through me to run you, and without trepidation I am prepared to stand with you in the end, truth and justice must in the end achieve yours very truly,

"HARRY P. FLANNERY"

MCCARTHY REPLIES.

"To this letter Mayor McCarthy replied as follows: "San Francisco, June 28, 1910.—Honorable P. H. McCarthy, Mayor of San Francisco.—Dear Sir: I desire to acknowledge receipt of your communication of yesterday, and to say that the contents of the same have impressed me deeply. I have reflected well upon the thought you present for consideration, and with unforgotten admiration for the unselfish and courageous sentiment you express, and the stand you have taken at this time hereby acquiesce in your view and wish so to inform you."

"I can only state, in reply to your public-spirited declaration, that I appointed you to the office of police commissioner of this city and county, first of all because you stood, as you now stand, premier among the most responsible and capable men in the city of San Francisco. I did not sign your certificate of re-appointment until I had duly reflected upon your long and honorable career, the exalted honor which the democracy of California had bestowed upon you as a mark of confidence in naming you as its choice for the United States Senate, your ideal home life, your spotless reputation in the community, your personal sympathy in the propaganda for a better city government, your sense of justice and consideration for the cause of union labor, which cause was vindicated and made triumphant by the people on November 2d last."

"I realize that the charge brought against you was inspired by a boundless crowd of false enemies, the administration to which you gave your support, and that the full depths of journalistic knavery were sounded in coaching a confessed criminal to take the witness stand against you, and by his false testimony to cause your removal from office. If any citizen of this city was under the impression that your removal was a just and necessary result of your accusation, which confessed a felony, but who earned immunity by his perjury, must acknowledge that he pressed home the truth upon that person. "Whether you are in public life or not, my friends and myself will never be unmindful of your earnest and faithful support, and no amount of political assassination will tend to sever our friendship. While your request of yesterday, which comes with irresistible force from your sense of justice and your sense of duty, I understand that you have shown yourself to be a man whose loyalty services in matters of public import may ever be well appreciated."

NAME ASSAILED.

"The fact that your good name was assailed by one who you had befriended because of his father, and who was named for his examination upon the witness stand, is the very thing of the kind, whom you defeated for the Democratic vote for the United States Senate, has convinced every right-thinking citizen of the intensity of the political hatred that lay at the bottom of the assault upon your reputation."

"The newspaper editor, who forgetful of his own eventful past, has rolled with an overwhelming quill to discredit my administration, myself and the man whom I have selected for office, was, strangely enough, present in that office to which I have just referred, and drive a bargain for the perjury that brought liberty to its unspeakable author."

"Upon these facts and circumstances the public can but reflect with sympathy for you, and with profound respect for your brave and frank and manly and manly stand of today. You have been duly acquitted by the jury that was deputed to investigate the charges against you, and that verdict should indeed have struck chagrin and apprehension into the hearts of your detractors. I am grateful to you for your honest, efficient, faithful and intelligent management of the affairs of the city of San Francisco in the time you held the office of police commissioner, and for the excellent work accomplished by you in many respects while occupying that important office."

"I thank you for the kind and generous reference you have made to my endorsement as a public servant, and to my administration, and together with my friends and associates, wish for you and for your excellent family all the health, happiness and prosperity that this world may be able to yield to an earnest, fearless, upright and useful citizen. Yours, very sincerely,

Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco."

HOUSE RANSACKED
BY DARING THIEVES

Burglars Use Small Ax to Break Down the Door of the House.

While the family was absent burglars broke into the home of E. J. Shepherd, 6420 Regent street, and ransacked the house, stripping the home of silverware, jewelry and other valuables. Entrance was effected through the pantry window, which had been left unlocked. The door leading from the pantry to the kitchen was broken open with a small axe, and the same implement was used in crashing into drawers and smashing open a desk. The house was searched room cellar to cellar, and no place of concealment was left untouched. When the family returned at 10:30 the rooms were in a "litter, the contents of bureau drawers, cupboards and desk turned out in confusion upon the floor. The total loss is estimated at less than $20. Detectives were at work investigating the case this morning and a number of good finger print records were taken.

Bioletti to Study
Grapes at Imperial
BERKELEY, June 28.—Professor Frederico Bioletti of the University of California, who will spend several weeks in investigations of viticultural conditions, will be given the production of table grapes in that fertile region. Grapes in that district ripen several weeks before any others in the state and produce a large income for the growers. One difficulty that has confronted the grower is the lack of good shipping facilities in the fruit, and an investigation will be made to determine whether this is due to poor methods of handling or to culture and climatic conditions.

REAL ESTATE MEN HOLD BIG MEETING

Oakland Association's Executive Committee Decides to Lower Dues.

An important meeting of the Oakland Real Estate Association's executive committee was held last evening in the association's new quarters in the Oakland Bank of Savings building, when a lengthy discussion was had as to certain changes in the association's policy, and in a vote of its influence in local commercial circles.

The committee, composed of Messrs. George W. Austin, D. B. Hill and J. M. Perkins, after a mature deliberation with other members of the association, decided that in order to better build up the organization a reduction of dues from $5 to $3 per month should be made commencing July 1. However, members working admission on August 1 or thereafter will not be required to pay an initiation fee of $10.

A resolution was passed recommending the city council for its prompt action in extending waterfront privileges to the Real Estate Association. A resolution was also passed congratulating the new city hall commissioners on their speedy selection of plans for the new municipal structure, the erection of which will mean a much more efficient city government.

The association will place itself on a plane similar to that of the stock and bond exchanges of the commercial center.

HEIRESS TO THOUSANDS, PRETTY AND TWENTY-ONE, SEEKS COWBOY HUSBAND

Denver Postmaster Enlisted in Search for Western Man, Five Feet Eight, Weighing 156 Pounds

DENVER, June 28.—Is there a Western cowboy, height five feet eight inches, weight 156 pounds, who has a hankering to be married at once to a pretty young woman with a fortune of $48,000?

If there be such a cowboy let him write to Ida Thomson, 1217 Haven avenue Bronx, N. Y., or if he has not the inclination to write, let him mount his favorite broncho and demonstrate his love by riding into the presence of the longing one with boots and spurs, sombrero and all the finery of the real Westerner.

The letter was addressed to the "Postmaster General, Denver, Colo.," and was turned over to Assistant Postmaster William Hannum, who has found poor husbands for more rich heiresses than any man in the West.

"I am a young lady," she writes, "26 years old, American born of German parentage. My weight is 120 pounds and am five feet four inches tall. I have a good father and mother. I do not ask for riches, but a plump, neat home. I am an heiress to $48,000 when I am 21. The man must be about five feet eight inches tall and weight about 156 pounds."

Mrs. Fiske to Aid Charity

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Mrs. Fiske, who opened her Pacific Coast tour at the Mason opera house here last night, announced during the day the receipt of canceled contracts covering the week of December 5 next, so that she might take charge of and appear in connection with a national X-mas to be given in Kansas City for the benefit of the humane societies of the country.

Mrs. Fiske's activity in humane affairs is well known, but such a business sacrifice as she has now arranged to make is an innovation in the affairs of any charity. The announcement was made in connection with that of Mrs. Fiske's appearance at a benefit for the local society, to be given on Friday of the current week.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Fiske gave a special performance in Boston for the Animal Rescue League before one of the largest and most representative audiences ever gathered within the Hollis Street theater, and as a result several poor worked-out and decrepit horses are now standing knee deep in the clover of a New Hampshire farm, never again to know the clang of the fire alarm or the early dawn activities of a city milk route.

Fiend Mangles Woman

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., June 28.—Mrs. Emil Bohn, a housewife, was attacked and nearly murdered as she lay asleep in her home early yesterday by an assailant who escaped after cutting the woman's throat and fracturing her skull with a shoemaker's hammer. Emil Bohn, the divorced husband of the woman, was arrested.

Would Sing Her Into Office

CHICAGO, June 28.—Real political campaign methods have been adopted by Chicago school teachers in their efforts to make Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of Chicago schools, the next president of the National Educational Association at Boston, next week. Realizing the value of music in catching the attention of a crowd, they have prepared two songs which they will sing in chorus in the convention hall. One of them is entitled, "Boston," and it is to be sung to the melody of "Dixie." Rehearsals will be held on the special train which will leave Chicago Thursday.

Graduation Dresses Cost Dollar

NEW YORK, June 28.—Graduating dresses costing from 50 cents to $1 were a feature of the commencement exercises of Washington Irving High School last night. Some thirty youthful exponents of the simple life, following the wishes of the teaching staff of the high school, who have for some time been arguing for simplicity and a general suppression of all show in graduating exercises, decided to show what can be done for a small sum of money, and appeared in dresses that cost in no case more than $1. According to the faculty of the school it was impossible to pick out the wearers of $1 dresses from among the others, and they hope that next year the whole class may be persuaded to adopt the idea.

Mrs. Sherman Seriously Ill

BALTIMORE, Md., June 28.—Mrs. James S. Sherman, wife of Vice-President Sherman, is in the Johns Hopkins Hospital here seriously ill. She has been in the institution since last Friday, but the cause of her illness is not definitely known. She is under the care of Dr. William S. Thayer, who said he will diagnose her case this morning. Vice-President Sherman arrived in Baltimore immediately after the adjournment of Congress Saturday night and kept a ceaseless vigil at the bedside of his wife all Saturday night, when she had a relapse and all day Sunday.

Mrs. Sherman was brought to this city on a special train Friday and hurried to the hospital in a closed automobile, which was in waiting at the Union station. Every effort was made to keep the matter from the public.

DEMON IN HUBBY WIFE TELLS COURT

Mrs. Helen James Sues for Divorce From Man She Says Abused Her.

Helen James, residing with her parents at 1823 Eagle avenue Alameda, charges in her complaint for a divorce from Henry H. James a plumber filed last yesterday afternoon in the Superior Court that her husband a habitual drunkard not only brought her to the brink of starvation but made a demon out of her.

"The wife charges that one day James locked her in a room of their apartment in Napa and repeated slaps her face with the threat that he would beat the temper out of her. Then he left the house to get a drink and when he returned to finish the job he was so full of liquor that after unlocking the door he fell upon the floor in a stupor. This gave Mrs. James a chance to escape and not waiting to get her 11th daughter and son, fled from Napa and returned to her mother's home in Alameda. She afterward learned the complainant alleges that James had placed the child in the care of the Associated Charities and immediately had that organization raise the child to her.

On another occasion the wife charges that she was lying in bed in a hospital and James and a male companion both so drunk they could hardly walk called to see her. James found the wife alone too ill to get up and she was helpless.

The fire swept through the 250 acres of stubble with great rapidity, burning the grain before it was able to be secured to haul it away.

Condition and lesser her, a her infinite disaster and humiliation.

Aside from the divorce, Mrs. James asked the court to award her the custody of the child and $1 a month of the father's support and maintenance.
